Fond Adventures

By MAURICE HEWLETT

Author of "The Forest Lovers."

FOUR glowing love-tales out of the heart of the Middle Ages, afire with romance, passion and adventure. Maurice Hewlett, who has stood alone among contemporary writers since the publication of "The Forest Lovers," here writes, in his rare, distinctive style, of the themes which he knows so well how to portray. His literary achievement is as great as his popularity. Not only is he an artist in words, but a teller of splendid tales.

In the present collection there are four stories, each of considerable length. The titles are: "The Heart's Key," "Brazenhead the Great," "Buondelmonte's Saga," and "The Love Chase."

NOTES IN SEASON.

CUPPLES & LEON, New York City, will publish April 20 "The Students' New Century Dictionary of the English Language," by Edward T. Roe, based upon the "Unabridged Dictionary of Noah Webster," which they believe will meet the never-failing demand for a complete, reliable and up-to-date American dictionary.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish on Saturday, the 15th inst., Lilian Whiting's new book, "The Outlook Beautiful," in which this poetic and thoughtful writer deals with the mystery of death and the relations between the life of this world and the life to come; and a powerful American novel, entitled "The Vision of Elijah Berl," by Frank L. Nason, whose theme is the beginnings of orange culture in California by help of irrigation.

WILLIAM HELBURN announces that he holds the sales agency in the United States for the beautiful French subscription work, "Modèles de Dessins d'Orfèvrerie, dessinés et gravés par Salembier," published in Paris by Charles Foulard. This notable work consists of six sections of six plates each, giving reproductions of designs of many examples of fine gold and silversmith's work. The plates, which were originally published in about 1800, are reproduced by heliogravure and printed on Holland paper; they will appear in three parts of twelve plates each, and the price will be raised after the publication is completed.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. call attention to the seasonable interest and value of their Country Home Library, the three volumes of which make special appeal to all who own "vine and fig tree," at this time of spring planting and home making. They include "The Country Home," by E. P. Powell, giving practical advice on location, arrangement of grounds, provisions for drainage, and similar necessary details; "The Orchard and Fruit Garden," a comprehensive manual by the same writer, whose successful fruit growing is famous in New York State; and "The Flower Garden," by Ida M. Bennett, which for two years has held its own as one of the best all-round handy-books for the amateur gardener.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that the advance orders for Hamlin Garland's new book, "The Tyranny of the Dark," have exceeded expectations, and that in order to meet the demand they are obliged to issue a larger edition, thus necessitating two weeks or more delay in publishing the book. It was expected that this novel would probably be published on April 12, but it now appears that the date will be some time early in May. "Fond Adventures," Maurice Hewlett's new book, which this firm will publish on April 19, shows this writer again in his favorite field of Middle Age romance. It contains four glowing love tales, brilliant with color, passion and adventure, and framed in rich mediæval setting.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS issue a new and cheaper edition of that remarkable narrative of travel and adventure in China, "Through Hidden Shensi," by Francis H. Nichols, whose untimely death in southern Tibet occurred recently. All the illustrations of the original edition are retained. They have also a new enlarged edition of W. C. Brownell's standard handbook and critical study of "French Art"; and a new edition of Mary Platt Parmele's "Short History of Russia," brought down to the siege of Port Arthur. In fiction they have a new story by Judge Robert Grant, called "The Orchid," dealing with present-day American society with his accustomed insight and skill, for which colored illustrations have been made; and "Twelve Stories and a Dream," by H. G. Wells, who has gathered in this new volume a baker's dozen of tragic, prophetic and comic tales, full of vitality and originality.

Herford, C: Harold. Robert Browning. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 11+399 p. D. (Modern English writers ser., no. 7.) cl., **$1 net.

Of this work the author says in his preface, "The narrative of Browning's life, in the earlier chapters, makes no pretence to biographical completeness. An immense mass of detail and anecdote bearing upon him is now available and within easy reach. I have attempted to sift out from this picturesque loose drift the really salient and relevant material. Much domestic incident, over which the brush would fain linger, will be missed; on the other hand, the great central epoch of Browning's poetic life, from 1846 to 1869, has been treated, deliberately, on what may appear an inordinately generous scale."

"The purpose is to present in a compact form those principles which underlie the design of gas-engines, together with such data on the subject as seems reliable for the use of those engaged in building this kind of machinery, and who are familiar with its characteristics. The qualitative or inventive side of design, such as is treated in all the books that have so far appeared, except Guldner in German, is here entirely omitted and familiarity with such presupposed. This book is concerned entirely with the qualitative side of design, and treats solely of the forces in, and the energy-transforming power of the standard mechanism of, the exploding gas-engine."—Preface.

Pattee, Fred Lewis. The house of the black ring. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1905. [Mr.] c. 3+324 p. map, D. cl., $1.50.

Central Pennsylvania is the setting of this characteristic story of a "Pennsylvania Dutch" community, quaint in its customs and remote in many ways from ordinary American village life. A valley among the Seven Mountains is the home of the old squire, who exerts a sort of rude feudal sway over the region. His enemies, his fate, the curse that belongs to the House of the Black Ring, and how these affect the life and love story of his daughter, make a story of many stirring incidents, which has humor as well as dramatic force.

A story of a Southern household in the bitterest days of the Civil War, picturing the brave endurance of privation in a besieged city, the suffering and humiliations of conquest, and the grim struggle of battle. The love story is that of a Southern girl whose half acknowledged engagement to her childhood's comrade is broken down and forgotten in the love awakened by one of the Yankee invaders; but beneath this runs a thread of deeper plot, which affords an unexpected ending.

An argument against celibacy in the priesthood is presented in the person of Father Michael Everett, a Catholic priest whose parish is a little Irish village. He is but twenty-five when the story opens, and had taken his vows when only twenty-one, before he knew life or his own nature. His awakening comes through a story told him in the confessional. He begins to think, and thinks so deeply, that his health is impaired. He is told to take a holiday and goes to France. There a young girl comes into his life, and the rest of the story is devoted to an account of his desperate struggle against temptation. The book is dedicated to the author's wife, Mrs. Katherine Cecil Thurston, who wrote "The Circle" and "The Masquerader."

- Van Vorst, Marie. Amanda of the mill: a novel. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1905. c. '04, '05. 5+340 p. D. cl., †$1.50.
The cotton mills of South Carolina with their poorly paid, overworked operatives, dirty, degraded and often half-starved, furnish the characters.

Amanda is a "hand" in the Grismore mills, saved only from falling to the very lowest moral depths, through her passionate, protective love for an apparently utterly hopeless outcast, a man of refinement and education, but conquered by his love of drink. Amanda is his one good influence, and in time he redeems himself, and becomes a labor leader. Amanda has been taken to Europe by Mrs. Grismore, educated and adopted and made her heiress. After years she returns to her old environment, and again is thrown with Henry Euston. The revelations at the end are unexpected and dramatic.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 8, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOKLOVERS' ENTERPRISES: WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

"SITTING in his library at his Landsdowne mansion, Seymour Eaton, the promoter and brains of the five Tabard Inn corporations which have gone into the hands of a receiver, smiled broadly—and it was a confident smile," (we quote verbatim from the Philadelphia North American,) as he stated: "We have not failed—and we do not intend to. We have taken the bull by the horns and prevented what 'might have been.' All will be settled amicably within a few days, and then we will progress as rapidly as we did before the—I might say, ill-advised—additions were taken up. Come to me in six months and I will have a beautiful story to tell you of success."

After a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Tabard Inn Corporation, the $12,500,000 "holding company," it was announced that bonds would be issued, secured by the stock of some of the subordinate companies, to a sufficient amount to readjust the affairs of the various enterprises! E. Clinton Rhoades, counsel for the corporation, is quoted as saying that while the library and magazine concerns would be continued, the subsidiary enterprises would be discontinued, though all would be solvent and all stockholders taken care of.

"A lot of disgruntled stockholders," says the Philadelphia Bulletin, are to-day "blaming the promoter" for "temporary embarrassment" which came from "adopting the methods of an inexperienced speculator," and

"pyramiding" by branching out into groceries, drugs and furniture, "which ate up all his margins." These stockholders are reported to be wondering when and if they will get their share of the six per cent dividend which was to be paid on April 1—a date which it is suggested may prove of untoward significance.

Mr. Eaton's broad smile was further accompanied by a statement that the Booklovers' and Tabard Inn libraries would not be involved; that the Tabard Inn Press Company would be continued so as to continue the printing and collect the indebtedness of the Booklovers' Magazine, which, though it has lost $50,000, will in the future be a paying property, and that it is also purposed to continue the Philadelphia Bookstore Company, that it might continue to supply the Booklovers' and Tabard Inn libraries and sell the 150,000 books which are stated to be on hand to the 600 libraries throughout the country which are stated to be its customers. Mr. Eaton had previously explained that a reaction from the boom of his enterprises had been caused by the opposition of publishers, by a flood of miserably poor books, and by a "Carnegie wave of library benevolence"! These several statements and explanations are not entirely compatible with each other, and leave much information to be desired.

What the stockholders and creditors of these enterprises one and all have a right to know, as the great edifice begins to topple, is whether there has been at any time a substantial basis for it. No justification has even been suggested for the $12,500,000 capital of the "holding corporation," nor can any be seen for the only less enormous capitalization of the Booklovers' scheme. The cleverness of Mr. Eaton's advertising, alike in his lavish use of magazine pages, in the sumptuous furnishings of his local shops, or in the general impression of large success which he has created, has been undoubted and phenomenal. Has there been any other and more real basis for his enterprises? Have the thousands of people who in towns and villages throughout the country have invested earnings and savings in his stocks, real and realizable value behind their stock certificates? Have there been real net earnings out of which to pay the ten per cent. dividends at the start, which induced further investments in stocks, or have these dividends been paid, contrary to law, out of capital raised by further sales of stock, and by the creation of successive new companies? To what extent have the real earnings of the companies gone to the personal profit of the promoter and his associates? It has been stated that the good faith of these enterprises has been indicated by the readiness of those concerned to answer questions. The questions we have asked are specific and critical and not general or vague; and it is to such questions that those interested have the right to demand answers. General assurances that neither creditors nor stockholders will lose a penny, and that everything will be well if more rope and more money are assured, count but little in the face of facts—or of the absence of them.

REFERRING to criticisms that have been made as to the action of organizations of post-office employees in influencing Congressmen as to salaries, and punishing through the political influence of their organization Congressmen who have not been willing to accede to their demands, the president of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks of the United States, Mr. Arthur Donoghue, of Chicago, writes: "It is true, as the Congressional records will show, that some postal organizations attempted to influence and intimidate Congress in the interest of their organization; particularly was this so during the last presidential campaign. . . . The Post Office Department disciplined some of the officials of the Rural Free Delivery Carriers' and also the Letter Carriers' organizations, but they have not by any act or deed on their part shown that our organization was acting except in accord with them. While it is true that many newspapers during the time that these matters were before the public, because of their failure to discriminate between the different postal organizations, made comments unfavorable to our organization, still there has never been any desire on our part nor have we ever attempted to control the action of Congressmen by any threat. We realize to the fullest that not only the public but Congressmen fail to realize our position, and we have, during the last several years attempted to educate both to our position and need." This association is represented in New York by Mr. Peter Wynne, of the New York Post Office, who is the national treasurer, and it is gratifying to know, as expressed by the letter of its president, that this organization, while seeking to advance the interests of its members, recognizes also its proper relations with the Post Office Department and with the public.

STATUS OF THE TABARD INN COMPANIES.

THE receivers of the five Tabard Inn companies report that the liabilities of these companies aggregate $145,705, and the nominal assets $220,625, showing a nominal surplus of $74,920, as against a capital stock aggregating $400,000. The Tabard Inn Press Company is reported to have liabilities of $58,000, with assets of stock and machinery of $40,000, and cash and credit of $65,000, and the Philadelphia Bookstore Company liabilities of $43,000, with merchandise assets of $30,000, and cash and credits of $37,625.

In the matter of the Bookstore Company it is set forth that the store does business with a large number of libraries throughout the country, selling books to more than six hundred such institutions. These books are sold on credit and collections cannot be forced or hurried. The bills have to go through the usual routine of such institutions and there is always more or less delay in getting in the money. The merchandise on hand consists of more than 150,000 books, which have been more or less used, but are salable to libraries at a reduced price. If the company is allowed to dispose of these books through the usual channels of trade the appraised value of $37,625, it is claimed, can easily be realized. If the sale is forced and they are put up at auction no such sum could be obtained for them.

The principal asset of the Press Company is stated to be a debt due by the Booklovers' Magazine. This can only be paid by continuing the publication of the magazine and letting the Press Company do the work as it has done heretofore.

R. Thornton Eaton, brother of the president and sole receiver of three and co-receiver of five of the involved companies, said to the Public Ledger representative:

"Folk who wonder why we wandered afield from the book and publishing business may be interested to learn that the three products concerns were formed to meet what seemed to be a demand growing out of the earlier branches. The Shops and Studios concern serves for a perfect example.

"As to the Food Company's venture and the druggists' specialties we handled, both lines of endeavor appealed to us because of our special advantages, mainly represented in the subscription list of the Booklovers' Library. That list was made up of names of what are called the 'best people,' and was representative of all parts of the United States. We made use of our list to advertise our wares before the eyes of persons most likely to be interested in them. The druggists' specialties we distributed through jobbers only; the groceries, etc., of the Food Company we handled at retail by the mail-order system.

"An idea of the value of our list of names," Mr. Eaton continued, "may be gained when I say that it contains a million, all the names of men and women who read books. We were paid $4900 by a publishing house recently for addressing 250,000 envelopes, representing just one-fourth of our clientele, from our list. The envelopes and contents were sent us stamped; we addressed and mailed them; the publisher did not get even a copy of the 250,000 names for future use. This is a single instance. It was on the admitted value of the list the Booklovers' Magazine was successfully launched, and the subsidiary ventures undertaken."

The Booklovers' Library, the first of the corporation's ventures, now has headquarters in twenty-eight principal cities of the United States. Its offshoot, the Tabard Inn Library, is represented by between 1300 and 1500 "stations," as the booths or stalls are called. The advertising and area of distribution of both the druggists' specialties and the foods were coextensive with the two libraries. The Booklovers' Library was established in Great Britain, and then disposed of at a profit to a company there. The venture included a Paris branch, which also was sold, so that the Tabard Inn Corporation is now without any foreign interests.

GIFT TO AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

THE American Tract Society has formally accepted the gift of $100,000 made recently by Ralph Voorhees, the blind philanthropist, of Clinton, N. J. The gift is said to be in a way a result of President Roosevelt's recent speech in which he commended the society for its work among the immigrants, speaking of its workers as "Doers of the Word." The society has formally declared its thanks for the gift and says that it comes at a most opportune time. It is said that the work of the society has been greatly increased by the flood of immigrants continually arriving here.

WASHINGTON LETTERS SOLD.

At the recent auction of the late Bishop John F. Hurst's library there were several notable sales of Washington letters. A record price, $1065, was paid for a letter written by Washington to Benjamin Harrison, May 5, 1779. The entire letter was in Washington's handwriting. It consisted of ten pages, and was written from the army headquarters at Middlebrook. The letter relates wholly to war matters, and Washington admits that he expects to be hard pushed in every quarter. Another Washington letter, written to Lund Washington, from New York, Aug. 19, 1776, a few days before the battle of Long Island, sold for $605. Another written in 1795 to Gov. Robert Brooke of Virginia went for $465. One written from the camp at Cambridge to Richard Henry Lee, Aug. 29, 1775, went for $360, and a release of 206 acres of land to Washington, written entirely by Washington in 1764, went for $400.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Printer's Ink for March 15 gave an interesting history of the Boston Traveller under the heading "Circulation Must Also Mean Advertising Value."

The second issue of the A. L. A. Booklist appears as number 3, for March, and records with brief annotations twenty-seven titles, of which but four are fiction.

THE Cumulative Book Review Digest, published by the H. W. Wilson Co., Minneapolis, makes its entrance into the literary field with a 66-page number for March. This publication is "devoted to the valuation of current literature," recording in alphabetic order the books reviewed in forty of the leading American and English periodicals, with descriptive notes and a summary or digest of the published reviews, given generally in the form of brief extracts. The use of plus or minus marks also ingeniously denotes degrees of favorable or unfavorable criticism. The first number is a three months' cumulation, for January to March, and a new period of cumulation will begin with the April number. In June a six months' cumulation will be issued.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE Spanish Academy has decided to distribute gratis among the people 60,000 copies of a specially prepared popular edition of "Don Quixote," in honor of the Cervantes commemoration to be held May 7 to 9.

NEWTON NEWKIRK, the author of "Stealthy Steve," has succeeded Charles H. Hoyt as official humorist of the Boston Post, and is also following in this regretted writer's footsteps by devoting himself to the writing of farcical plays.

WHILE "Charles the Chauffeur," published in book form by F. A. Stokes Co., was appearing serially in the New York Tribune Sunday Magazine, Mr. S. E. Kiser, the author of the story, was visited one day at his office in the Chicago Record-Herald building by a richly-dressed young woman who accused him of writing up her own experiences for the amusement of the public. She insisted that she was the real "Juliet Thurlow" and was positive that somebody who was jealous of her had been disclosing facts concerning her adventures in the automobile. Mr. Kiser succeeded in convincing her that her suspicions were unfounded, but during her stay she unwittingly recounted a number of exploits that are related in the closing chapters of the story.

THE East Side of New York did honor on the evening of March 30 to Eliakum Zunser, Nestor of Yiddish poetry and one of the founders of the yet young Yiddish literature, in a great jubilee celebration which filled Cooper Union and realized a sum which will go far toward insuring a well provided old age for the man in whose honor it was planned. Dr. David Blaustein, of the Educational Alliance, presided and spoke with enthusiasm of Zunser's writings, and of the appeal his poems had made to the hearts of his countrymen. Other addresses of the same purport were made and recitations in Yiddish were given of some of the poems mentioned. When Mr. Zunser rose to respond he was received with an ovation that lasted ten minutes. The Yiddish poet is now about sixty-five years old, having been born in Vilna, Russia. He came to New York in 1889.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM WEBSTER WATERS, the superintendent of the Presbyterian Bookstore, Pittsburgh, Pa., died after a short illness on Tuesday, March 28.

EDMUND BOOTH, supposed to be the oldest editor in America, died Wednesday, March 29, at Anamosa, Ia., aged 95. He was born at Springfield, Mass., and was graduated at the Institute of the Deaf and Dumb at Hartford, Conn., in 1830. He remained as a teacher for seven years and formulated many of the pioneer methods used in the deaf institutes in this country.

DR. ELMER H. CAPEN, President of Tufts College for thirty years, died at his home in Medford, Mass., on March 22. He was born April 5, 1838. A volume by Dr. Capen, entitled "Occasional Addresses," was published in 1902. His special departments in teaching were ethics and political economy. He also gave lectures on ancient and international law. He was the college preacher, and frequently delivered addresses and lectures.

ANTONIN PROUST, who was Minister of Fine Arts in the Gambetta Cabinet, died on March 22, by suicide. He was born at Mort, France, on March 15, 1832, early became a journalist, travelled much and published a volume entitled "The Round World" and a number of works on fine arts, travel and history, including "The Correspondence of Prince Bismarck." M. Proust did notable service as French Commissioner General at the Chicago Exposition.

THE REV. SAMUEL MILLER HAGEMAN, who was known in Brooklyn for many years as a theologian, artist, musician, poet, and critic, died on the 2d inst., at his home, 88 Madison Street, that borough. He was born in Princeton, N. J., fifty-seven years ago, and was a grandson of Samuel Miller, founder of Princeton Theological Seminary, where Mr. Hageman was educated for the ministry. After having several small charges, he came to Brooklyn thirty-five years ago. Soon after that he left the Presbyterian Church on account of his dislike of the doctrine of predestination. His doctrine was that brotherly love and living according to the best dictates of one's conscience determined the future state. Just before his death Mr. Hageman had finished a large work, which is soon to be published, under the title of "Poetical Ornithology." He always illustrated his own books. He leaves three sons.

JEREMY WILLMON has published at the McBride Press, Los Angeles, Cal., "The Secret of the Circle," which demonstrates in logic and with twelve diagrams the possibility of constructing a straight line equal to any given arc of a circle, and through this problem to construct a square, equal in area to any circle and a circle equal in area to any square, with solutions of kindred geometrical problems.

ROBERT M. PIERCE, 15 West 18th Street, New York City, has ready "Problems of Number and Measure," in which he has studied out an outline and bibliography of the application of the Arabic system of notation to a radix other than ten, and in which he gives an account of the power of the resulting new system of non-decimal arithmetic as a basis of a thorough-going reform of the metric systems of the world.

PENN PUBLISHING COMPANY, Philadelphia, send word that the fame of Lucille Lovell's "Andy" has spread across the Atlantic, and that the English rights in the book have been purchased by Ward, Locke & Co., who will shortly bring out an English edition of the spirited story. Another satisfactory report is that W. M. Rhoads's "Stein Toast Book" has been increased in size about one-half and is again put in print for new popularity.

BROADWAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 835 Broadway, New York City, will issue shortly "Ione, and Other Poems," by Don Mark Lemon, who carried off the prize in the Black Cat's recent competition; "Competition," an economic work by W. V. Marshall; "A Submarine Tour," by Frank Balch; "Two Practical Heroines," by Joseph D. Harris; "Along the Line," by E. W. Swan; and "The Dagmar Who Loved," by Kathleen Blackburn.

JOHN MURPHY COMPANY call attention to their great selection of "Catholic Prayer Books," which they have put into most attractive Easter dress of white celluloid and white leather, relieved with gold and silver edges. "The Key of Heaven" and "Child's Prayer Book" are gotten up with painted designs of great beauty. There is also a "Manual of Prayers" in India paper edition, made especially for weddings and gotten up in white German calf.

BURROWS BROTHERS COMPANY have a valuable contribution to the study of Spanish America in "Cuentos Ticos," short stories of Costa Rica by Ricardo Fernandes Guardia, translated from the Spanish with a full and valuable introduction, notes and a map by Gray Casement. The tales have the indescribable local color of Central American life.

Some are humorous and some tragic, but all show power and present vividly a new phase of life among near but almost totally unknown neighbors.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have added to their English Men of Letters "William Cullen Bryant," by William Aspinwall Bradley, who bases his sketch chiefly on the official biography of Bryant's son-in-law, the late Parke Godwin. The author ranks Bryant as the most imaginative of all poets except Poe, who he points out was perhaps the only poet who recognized and vindicated Bryant's genius. The writer thinks American criticism especially has done this distinctively American poet but scant justice.

T. WERNER LAURIE, Clifford's Inn, London, have just issued "Pictures in Umbria," by Katherine S. Macquoid, a charming Italian travel book describing Perugia, Assisi and others of the marvellous old hill cities. The volume is brought out uniform with The Cathedral Series and has fifty original illustrations by Thomas R. Macquoid. Also nearly ready is Halliwell Sutcliffe's new novel, "Red o' the Feud," in which the author of "Through Sorrow's Gates" returns to that wild atmosphere of the moor feuds which seems to hold a special glamour for him.

WILLIAM ABBATT, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City, announces a new edition of Major Alexander Garden's "Anecdotes of the Revolution." The two volumes of the early edition have long been scarce and valuable. Mr. Abbatt's revised and illustrated edition is to be issued in two octavo volumes and will be limited to 250 copies, fifty of which will be on large paper. The same publisher announces a new edition, also limited to 250 copies, of the poems of Edward Coate Pinkney, the author of the lyric beginning:

I fill this cup to one made up of loveliness alone.

FUNK & WAGNALLS Co. have just issued Bernard Weiss's "The Religion of the New Testament," in an English translation by George H. Schodde. This book consists of citations of the vital passages of the New Testament so arranged as to build up a symmetrical objective conspectus of the Christian religion. Early in May the house will issue "The Sunny Side of the Street," devoted to the recollections and observations of Marshall P. Wilder, with all the original illustrations that have been appearing serially in the N. Y. Tribune Sunday Magazine Supplement.

THE last of the set of bowling games between Ginn & Co. and the Oxford University Press was bowled on March 30 and was won by the Ginn men, which gave them the series. The teams were so evenly matched that the result of the majority of games was in doubt until the last man had bowled. How close and exciting the games were, especially the last set, can be imagined when one pin would have changed the score in favor of the Oxford team. In fact, the last game was a tie, which made it necessary to roll two extra frames, and here is where the Oxford boys fell down, as, owing to a foul, their hopes for victory were gone.

LEA BROTHERS & Co., Philadelphia, announce "Manual on the Urine and Feces in Diagnosis," by Otto Hensel, bacteriologist to the German Hospital, New York City, Richard Weil, pathologist to the German Hospital, and Smith Ely Jelliffe, instructor in pharmacology and therapeutics, Columbia University, New York City; a completely new "Practice of Medicine," by Hobart Emory Hare; and two new volumes in Victor C. Pederson's Series of Medical Epitomes—"An Epitome of Medical Diagnosis," by Dr. Austin W. Hollis, St. Luke's Hospital, New York City; and "An Epitome of Diseases of the Eye and Ear," by Dr. Arthur N. Alling and Dr. O. A. Griffin.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, published on March 13 "British Bird Life," by Perceval Westell, to which Sir Herbert Maxwell has contributed the introduction; "The Personal Story of the Upper House," by Kosmo Wilkinson, giving sketches of the notable members who have sat in the House of Lords from the thirteenth century to the present day, a book of which the King has ordered a personal copy; and "Studies in General Physiology," by Jacques Loeb, of California University, a large two-volume exhaustive work. On March 27 the house issued "The Camera in the Fields," by F. C. Snell, a practical guide to nature photography, illustrated with eighty reproductions of photographs direct from nature.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR Co. have just ready "Power and Health Through Progressive Exercise," by George Elliot Flint, who takes a strong stand for heavy work in physical culture and recommends running, parallel bar work, putting up heavy dumb-bells, etc. The author is the son of Dr. Austin Flint, who has written the introduction, and it is believed his book will stir up great controversy. The house also has ready "Social Progress," by Josiah Strong, a year-book and encyclopædia of economic, industrial, social and religious statistics, 1905, which first appeared in 1904, and is this year much improved upon. The president of the American Institute of Social Science is certainly eminently fitted to edit this year-book.

CROSCUP & HOLBY COMPANY, 23 East 21st Street, New York City, announce the immediate publication of a complete and uniform edition in English of the Works of Prosper Mérimée, comprising his novels, tales and the "Letters to an Unknown," edited by Professor Saintsbury, who in his introduction will give a masterly summary of Mérimée and his writings and will make clear to English minds the spirit and genius of this great writer. The works will be illustrated by the leading artists of France and will contain many well-known portraits of Mérimée. Translators of well-known ability have been secured, and there has been no abridgment of the text. The set will number eight volumes.

THE METHODIST BOOK CONCERN have published "Sunday-School Organization and Methods," by Charles Roads, through Jennings & Graham; and "The House That Jack Built," by Wesley Johnston, through Eaton & Mains. The house was Jack's own life—straight, manly and honest; a thing of more endurance than his paper mill and the mansion on the hill. The Concern has also just published an interesting contribution to theology in "The Last Message of Jesus Christ, or, the Apocalypse in a New Light," by Rev. John Henry Timbrell; and "Burden Bearing," by John Rhey Thompson, a volume of sermons preached extemporaneously at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, during the years 1883-1884.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready "Silver Bells," by Colonel Andrew C. P. Haggard, a brother of Rider Haggard, who under this name introduces an Indian girl of Canada, a perfect child of nature who falls in love with a mighty hunter from the civilized lands; and "A Captain of Men," by E. Anson More, a story of the year 1050 before the Christian era, laid in Tyre where the merchant princes first discovered the value of tin and where the great order of the Free Masons had its origin. Later in the month the house will bring out "The Fair Land of Tyrol," by W. D. McCracken, who thoroughly knows this beautiful land so sought by the tourist and gives charming descriptions of the habits and customs of the Tyrolese.

W. H. LOWDERMILK & Co., Washington, issue this month two interesting historical publications: "Disunion Sentiment in Congress in 1794," a confidential memorandum, hitherto unpublished, written by Senator John Taylor for James Madison, edited by Gaillard Hunt, and printed in a limited edition, with a facsimile of the original manuscript; and a new edition, with facsimile of the rare original, of "The Humble Request of the Governor and the Company late gone to New England, to the Rest of their Brethren of the Church of England," London, 1630, with bibliographical note by Wilberforce Eames and an historical introduction by John Ewell. This edition of this famous tract issued by the leaders of the Winthrop Colony on the eve of their departure for the New World, is limited to 100 copies.

A. S. BARNES & Co. announce the publication this week of "The New Knowledge," by Robert Kennedy Duncan, Professor of Chemistry in Washington and Jefferson College. The new theory of matter, and the relation to other sciences of the new discoveries in chemistry and physics is here vividly presented in a book for the scientist or the layman. The volume gives a clear and detailed account of the most significant experiments of Becquerel, M. and Mme. Curie, Ramsay, Crookes and others, presenting facts which are only to be obtained in partial reports scattered through the files of foreign scientific journals or as Professor Duncan gathered them from the scientists themselves. There is suggested in it a cure for tuberculosis, light without heat, and a whole series of radiations from matter in the natural state.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY announce "American Thumb-Prints," a collection of the most distinctive essays contributed by Miss Kate Stephens to the various periodicals in the past few years, of which the subjects range from entertaining investigations into Ben Franklin's levities to a sober study of a Kansas university; and "Diplomatic Mysteries," by Vance Thompson, which have led to great discussion during the appearance of the material in serial form in Success, opinions as to the matter given being fact or fiction seeming to be about equally divided and equally well defended. To the Series of Select Novels in paper covers have just been added Stevenson's "Cadets of Gascony," Rosa Nouchette Carey's "The Mistress of Brae Farm," and John Strange Winter's "The Magic Wheel." Harris Dickson's "The Ravens" is bringing in steady big orders and gaining much commendation.

D. VAN NOSTRAND COMPANY have just issued "Gas Engine Design," by Charles Edward Lucke, of Columbia University, which presents in a compact form those principles which underlie the design of gas engines, together with such data on the subject as seem reliable for the use of those engaged in building this kind of machinery, and who are familiar with its characteristics. The data presented are the result of many years' collection and personal experience. They have also ready "Experimental Researches on the Flow of Steam Through Nozzles and Orifices," by A. Rateau, engineer of the Paris Mining Corps, to which is added a note on the flow of hot water. This is published in an authorized translation by H. Boyd Boydon. The house announces among forthcoming books: "How to Use a Gas Analysis," by W. H. Birchmore; "Boiler Waters: Scale and Corrosion," by W. W. Christie; "Water Supply Engineering," by H. T. Corey; and "Coal Tar Colors: their origin and chemistry," by I. W. Fay.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS are about to publish "Author and Printer," a guide for authors, editors, printers, correctors of the press, compositors and typists, compiled by F. Howard Collins, who has put careful work into this guide for three years. The book has been approved by various trade associations, including the Executive Committee of the London Association of Correctors of the Press. They also have nearly ready a volume of "Specimens of the Elizabethan Drama from Lyly to Shirley" (1580-1642), selected by W. H. Williams, now Professor of English in the University of Tasmania; and the section of volume 8 of the "Oxford English Dictionary," which covers the alphabet from Ree to Reign; and have just issued "The Complete Poetical Works of Shelley," in a single volume, edited by Thomas Hutchinson, in most careful and satisfactory manner; Bigg's "The Church's Task Under the Roman Empire;" and "The Masai: Their Language and Folk-lore," by G. A. C. Hollis.

DODD, MEAD & Co. announce for publication on April 15 a new story by George Barr McCutcheon, author of the much read "Beverly of Graustark." The title of the new story is "The Purple Parasol." It will be illustrated with several full-page plates in colors by Har-risson Fisher, and page decorations by Charles B. Falls, and is said to be as spirited and entertaining as its predecessors from the same hand. They will also issue on the same date a new volume of poems by Paul Laurence Dunbar, "Lyrics of Sunshine and Shadow," which contains many negro dialect poems, besides those of more ambitious strain; and "The Automobile Record," a volume in handy size for the pocket, which has been devised to help the owner of an automobile to keep the data of his machine, the record of his runs, expenses, and a general diary of his automobile experiences. The book has been made to slip easily into one's pocket. This firm are the American publishers of Anthony Trollope's novels. They have issued the Barsetshire and Parliamentary Novels, and are now about to publish the first of a new series to be known as The Manor House Novels, uniform in style and size with the previous series. The title of the first novel of the new series is "Orley Farm."

LONGMANS, GREEN & COMPANY, according to their April bulletin, have just ready "Cuba and the Intervention," by Albert G. Robinson; "Constitutional Law in the United States," by Emlin McClain, justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa, which is added to the American Citizen series; "Alessandro Scarlatti: His Life and Works," by Edward J. Dent, who gives a complete catalogue of the works of this most celebrated composer of his time, (1659-1725;) "Facts and Ideas," short studies in life and literature by Philip Gibbs, author of "Knowledge is Power;" and "An Introduction to the Geology of Cape Colony," by A. W. Rogers, with chapter on the fossil reptiles of the Karroo formation. A large number of religious works are just out or nearly so. Of these the most timely and important are "Church Work," by Rev. Bernard Reynolds, of St. Paul's, London, the new volume in the Oxford Library of Practical Theology; "The Training of the Twig," by Rev. C. L. Drawbridge, an essay on the religious training of the young; "The Splendor of the Human Body," by the Rt. Rev. C. H. Brent, Bishop of the Philippine Islands, combating the ascetic view of the function of the body; "In Watchings Often," addresses to nurses and others by the Rev. E. E. Holmes, of Christ Church, Oxford; "The Southwark Psalter," by B. F. Westcott, late Bishop of Durham, set to music by A. Madeley Richardson, organist of St. Saviour's Collegiate Church; and a second impression of the "Life and Letters of Canon Liddon," with a concluding chapter by the Bishop of Oxford.

JOHN LANE has a long list of books to be brought out during spring, many of which have already been noticed. In biography will be issued "The Life of Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky," (1840-1893,) by his brother, Modeste Tchaikovsky, edited and abridged from the German and Russian editions by Rosa Newmarch, who also provides an introduction; "Memoirs of a Royal Chaplain," (1729-1763,) giving the correspondence of Edmund Pyle, D.D., chaplain to George II., with Samuel Kerrick, D.D., rector of Wolferton and West Newton, edited and annotated by Albert Hartshorne; "Napoleon: the First Phase," some chapters on the boyhood and youth of Napoleon Bonaparte, 1769-1793, by Oscar Browning; and "The Duke of Reichstadt," (Napoleon II., "L'Aiglon," by Edward von Wertheimer. In poetry and belles-lettres the new books will be "The Poems of William Watson," in two volumes, edited and arranged by J. A. Spender; "Collected Poems of Ernest Dowson," with cover design by Aubrey Beardsley; "New Poems," by Arthur Christopher Benson; "Otia," by Armine Thomas Kent, containing a specially excellent article on the poetry of Leigh Hunt which appeared in The Saturday Review; "Books and Personalities," by H. W. Nevins, including a very notable appreciation of Heine; and "The Women of Shakespeare's Family," by Mrs. Mary Rose, the curator of Shakespeare's birthplace at Stratford-on-Avon. A new novel is also announced, entitled "A Child of the Shore," a romance of Cornwall by S. M. Fox.

There are three books that you will want to keep in stock and in a prominent place on your counter.

You know what an interest there is to-day in everything pertaining to the country, and what a demand there is for nature and country books of all sorts. Doubtless you have been asked many times to suggest the best—that is, the most helpful, suggestive and practical—books along these lines.

When such a request is made of you, remember that the volumes in The Country Home Library are the best books, in this class, published in America. In fact they stand quite alone in the range of subjects which they cover, and in the authoritativeness of the information which they afford.
